Offering another perspective on the subject of African American identity, the Kendra Kimbrough Dance Ensemble will perform an original work titled Angst: 3AM. The dance focuses on the ways in which stress – psychological, economic, physical and otherwise – impacts relationships within the black community, and in particular the development of adolescent boys.

"The portion given here involved an earnest narration, and an exploration of the quandaries faced by African American boys...the choreography has promise." —Allan Ulrich, SF Chronicle

Also featuring "Reflections" – a Reunion of KKDE members will dance and choreograph a compilation in tribute to the untimely passing of founding member Roquisha Townsend.
